

The Beach is Fun

Today is Saturday. The weather is sunny and hot. My family and I go to Cindy Beach. I feel happy. We bring our beach towels, swimsuits and sunscreen. We also bring three slices of bread and two bottles of juice.

At the beach, I see many visitors and a lifeguard who is sitting on top of a tower. First, my brother and I build a sandcastle. However, the big waves washes the sandcastle away. We build a sandcastle again. Next, we look at the shells. The shells are very beautiful. Then, we put on our swimsuits and go swimming. The sea is beautiful. The water is clear and cool.

Suddenly, a shark comes out. We shout, 'Please help!' Some people run away quickly. Some people tell the lifeguard about the shark. The lifeguard uses a net to catch the shark. The shark is scared and swims away. All the people are relieved. They continue swimming. My brother and I build a sandcastle. We are happy.
