

Our favourite TV programmes

Ricky was at home. He was watching the pet show. He enjoyed it very much. He felt interested and relaxed. When Ricky's sister, Emma, came home, she asked, "Ricky, what are you watching now?" "I am watching a pet show. It's really interesting," Ricky replied.

Emma said, "I want to watch TV now but I don't watch pet shows. I don't like watching pop music shows either. Both of them are boring. I don't like watching cartoons. They are silly. I like watching sports programmes because the basketball matches are exciting!"

Ricky disliked sports programmes. Suddenly Emma grabbed the remote control but Ricky refused. "I will sleep after two minutes," Ricky said. Then, they argued and fought with each other for the remote control. Mum stormed in, "Why was it so noisy inside?" She said angrily. Emma and Ricky told Mum what they did.

"Ricky, you can watch a pet show on iPad and Emma, you can watch a sports programme on TV. That's a good way, isn't that?" Mum suggested. "Yes!" replied Ricky and Emma.

After that, when they want to watch different TV programmes, they always have a good way to solve problem.
